

Summary of Changes to the Criminal Litigation Syllabus 2025

Introduction

This short document summarises the main changes to the criminal litigation syllabus in 2025. This document is particularly intended to enable continuing students to understand which areas of the 2024 criminal litigation syllabus will form part of the centrally set assessments in 2025, and which parts of the 2024 criminal litigation syllabus will not be assessed.

This document provides a summary of the main changes to the syllabus. However, students should also refer to the new syllabus, which includes full updated references to Blackstone's Criminal Practice 2025, to understand the detailed requirements of the 2025 syllabus.

It should be noted that the only (and important) exception to the Criminal Litigation Syllabus 2025 cut-off date of 31 July 2024 relates to maximum sentences in the magistrates' court for either way offences, addressed in paragraphs D3.23, D23.14 and E13.5 of Blackstone's Criminal Practice 2025. Those paragraphs reflect the law as at 31 July 2024, whereas in the centrally set assessments taking place in the calendar year 2025 students will be expected to be familiar with the increased sentencing powers in the magistrates' court which came into force on 18 November 2024, under which the magistrates' court may impose a penalty of up to twelve months' imprisonment for a single either way offence.
